#1: Set Up a List and Welcome Message in Your Email Marketing Service

Social Media Marketing |

Social Media Examiner

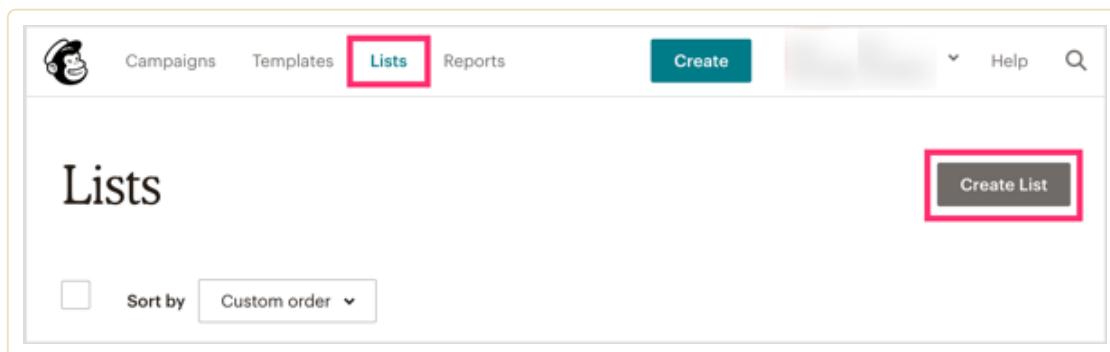

In integrations, you can start using your Messenger bot (<https://www.socialmediaexaminer.com/how-to-get-started-with-messenger-bots-dana-tran/>) to build out your email list. This article shows you how to set up this process using the Pro version of ManyChat (<https://manychat.com>) (starting at $10 per month (<https://manychat.com/pricing>)) and the email marketing service of your choice.

To get started, log into your email marketing service. Next, you'll need to create a list to which you'll add subscribers from your Messenger bot and set up any automated messages you want to send when users are added to your list.

In this example, we'll be using Mailchimp (<https://mailchimp.com/>), which offers a free version (<https://mailchimp.com/pricing/>). If you're using a different email marketing service, adapt these general steps to create a list and automated message in your provider, and then skip to Step #3.

Create a List for Subscribers

First, you'll create the list to which you'll add subscribers from your Messenger bot. In Mailchimp, click the Lists tab at the top of the main page and then click Create List on the right side of the screen.

Follow the prompts to create your list and click Save when you're done.

Set Up a Welcome Message

Once you've created a list, you'll want to set up the automated welcome message. This message can range from a simple confirmation of being added to the list to an email that delivers a lead magnet or mini-course.

(<https://www.socialmediaexaminer.com/smmworld/?smesite=world19-site-Mike97ox250>)

On the Mailchimp home screen, click the Create Campaign button.

The Mailchimp home screen displays a 'Good Morning, Stellar247!' greeting and account statistics. On the right, there's a 'Create Campaign' button. Below the greeting, there's a section titled 'Explore MailChimp' with three main categories: 'Campaigns', 'Audience', and 'Campaigns' again. Each category has a brief description and a 'Find Out More' button.

In the pop-up window, select Email.

A pop-up window titled 'Search our available campaign types' shows five options: 'Email', 'Ad', 'Landing Page', 'Postcard', and 'Signup form'. The 'Email' option is highlighted with a red box. To the right, there's a cartoon illustration of a crocodile in the water with a hot air balloon above it. Text at the bottom encourages users to let them guide them through the process.

The interface for creating automation emails. It features a 'SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING WORLD' logo on the left. In the center, it says 'Automate your sales funnel with Subscribers from the list of options.' Below that, it says 'MARKETING WORLD TICKETS'. There are four tabs: 'Regular', 'Automated' (which is selected and highlighted with a red box), 'Plain-text', and 'A/B Test'. Below the tabs, it shows '00 DAYS', '07 HOURS', and '38 MINUTES'. At the bottom, there's a 'Create an Automation Email' button and a 'Custom' button.

The screenshot shows a section of the Social Media Examiner website under the 'Social Media Marketing' tab. It features several options for automated emails:

- Email your tagged contacts: Send a targeted message when you add a tag to a contact.
- Welcome new subscribers: Introduce yourself to people when they sign up for your list. This option is highlighted with a red border.
- Say 'happy birthday': Celebrate with an exclusive offer or cheerful message that sends based on the birthday field in your list.
- Share blog updates: Help contacts keep up with your blog by sending new posts straight to their inboxes.

Next, you'll select which type of automated welcome email you want to send. There is no right or wrong answer here. The choice comes down to what your subscribers expect. Here are your options:

- Welcome Message is a message that welcomes your subscriber to your list and perhaps delivers a single lead magnet.
- Onboarding Series is when you have more to say and you don't want to overwhelm your new subscriber with too much all at once.
- Education Series is great for delivering eCourses, mini-courses, and/or tips and tricks via a series of emails.

Decide which style is best for you and then select the list you just created from the drop-down menu.

From here, you'll want to design your email or email series depending on which automated email you choose.

When you're finished setting up your welcome message, the next step depends on which email marketing provider you're using. If you're using the built-in Mailchimp integration, proceed to Step #2. If you're using a different email marketing service, skip ahead to Step #3 to tie it all together with a clever tool called Zapier.

#2: Connect Mailchimp to Your Messenger Bot Builder

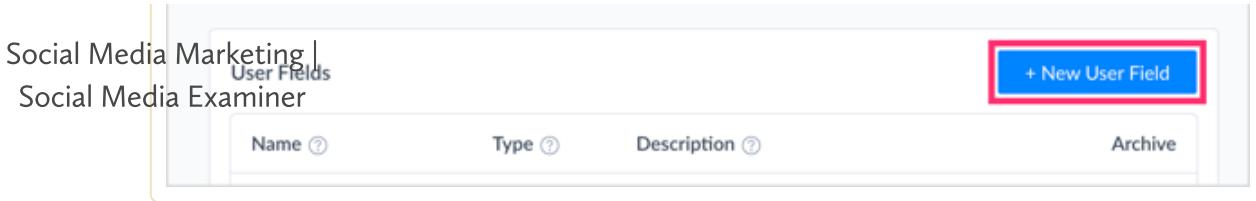

If you're using Mailchimp, the built-in integration makes it easy to connect Mailchimp to ManyChat. After that, you'll set up your Messenger bot to ask for and capture the user's email address.

Create a Custom Email Field in ManyChat

First, log into your ManyChat account (<https://manychat.com/login>) and click the Settings tab on the left.

Click Custom Fields in the top menu bar and then click New User Field to create a custom field that saves the subscriber's email address.

In the pop-up window, type in a name for your custom field (for instance, User Email or Email Address) and select Text from the drop-down menu. Then click Create.

The pop-up window has a title 'Create New User Field'. It contains a descriptive text: 'Custom attributes let you save info about your subscribers. Store user emails, phones, appointments, behavior or anything else you wish. Later you can segment your audience based on this data.' Below this are two main input fields: 'Name' (with a placeholder box) and 'Type' (set to 'Text' in a dropdown menu). There is also a 'Description (Optional)' text area. At the bottom are 'Cancel' and 'Create' buttons.

Set Up the Mailchimp Integration in ManyChat

In Settings tab on the left, select Integrations in the top menu bar. Then click Connect Mailchimp Account.

Note: If you don't see Mailchimp as an option, skip to Step #3 below.

The screenshot shows the homepage of Social Media Marketing World. On the left is a large logo for 'SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING WORLD'. To the right, there's a banner with the text 'SAVE ON YOUR SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING WORLD TICKETS'. Below the banner is a large digital timer: '00 DAYS 07 HOURS 38 MINUTES'. Underneath the timer, a note reads: 'If you or your subscribers are located in the European Economic Area (EEA), please be sure to obtain subscribers' consent to transferring their data to an external service provider.' At the bottom of the page, there's a navigation bar with links: General, Live Chat, Growth Tools, Notifications, Custom Fields, Pages, Users, Payments, Integrations, Billing, API, and Installed Templates.

With that, your ManyChat flow is connected to your email marketing service via Zapier.

You can now go through and test it yourself to see if it triggers correctly. This is also a great time to create one of the many growth tools that ManyChat provides: start inviting new people to subscribe to your chatbot, or send out a broadcast to current subscribers inviting them to explore your new flow.

Conclusion

With over 1 billion active users on Facebook Messenger, it's one of the best places to connect with your target audience. But you should use caution when building your marketing on "rented" land. In other words, you need to own your data. That way if anything were to happen to Facebook or Facebook Messenger, you can take your list elsewhere instead of having to start over.

This is just one of the reasons capturing user information such as email addresses is such a great idea. Although email has far lower open and click-through rates than Facebook Messenger, it can still do many things better. From sending more long-form messages to mini-courses and automation, email is still a great tool in your marketing toolbox.

Thank you, Kelly. Your step-by-step guide really helps those of us who are new to this integration. If we're new to chatbots and want to see HOW they can play a role in building a list from Messenger (& any other performance objectives), what resource (i.e. article/post) do you recommend? Before integration, I need to see how others are using Chatbots.

Hi Mike, thanks for asking. I actually have a full suite of YouTube videos that walk you through not only the how tos but also the why. Feel free to check them out at

But overall there are so many use cases for this. I personally like to do this email capture strategy when doing events, webinars, and/or delivering lead magnets. Manychat and Facebook messenger also make it really easy because when you use the user input to ask for the users email, Facebook will automatically populate their email address and all they have to do is click on it to confirm. This also makes it so your email list is far more accurate. No more fake email addresses! YAY!

Social Media Examiner 2. Use chatbots in conjunction with Facebook live to drive engagement and grow your subscribers. You can A: create a post asking people to subscribe to an upcoming Live broadcast using a comment trigger or ref url. Then when you go live you can send a broadcast to your subscribers (segmented for interest) stating you are live and they should come join you. This is also a great way to promote an upcoming Facebook live because you can run an ad on this post (you cannot run an ad on a scheduled Facebook live until AFTER you are done going live) B: Have a lead magnet that ties to your live broadcast topic and include a comment trigger on your live broadcast post. This way viewers can comment with specific keywords and be sent the lead magnet they want. This help increase engagement like crazy. And we know
